RMHS J4NG Students Compete at Career Development Conference in LV

Kinross Nevada is proud to pair up with Jobs For Nevada Graduates, J4NG, not only to provide Round Mountain High School with an instructor, but also as a corporate sponsor of state J4NG events like the Career Development Conference. Above, the Kinross team and RMHS J4NG students and their instructor meet at the conference. From left, RMGC electrician Sean Dunning, mobile maintenance/CI Khadija Watkins, Kinross Nevada VP and GM Neil Jensen, RMHS junior Gavin Banks, RMHS junior Dylan Chavez, RMHS junior Marquez Zamora, RMHS sophomore Lucas Lehman, and J4NG instructor Kenndra Larsen. Read more on pages 2 and 3.

Kinross Proudly Sponsors J4NG Career Development

A small group of Round Mountain High School students traveled to Las Vegas to attend the Jobs For Nevada Graduates (J4NG) Career Development Conference. This conference was held at the Aliante Hotel in Las Vegas. Students from every J4NG chapter in the state were in attendance. Students and their chapter specialists were there to compete, learn, network, and grow.

Kinross Nevada has been a proud supporter of J4NG for several years. Not only does Kinross Nevada provide the funds for the instructor at RMHS, it has become a sponsor of state J4NG events, like the Career Development Conference. Kinross has noticed the difference in young adults who come out of this program. "When students come to us from J4NG they have a higher level of understanding of what the professional world has to offer," says Sam Faga, RMGC Community Relations Professional. "They have also had the benefit of really immersing themselves in getting to know different employers so when they make their choice on employment they are confident and sure that this is the right career path for them," she added.

Events like the Career Development Conference help prepare students for a professional career. Students work on skills in the classroom and prepare to compete at a state level. "CDC is a conference and a competition. The kids are grateful for being here and they love it," said Kenndra Larsen, RMHS J4NG Specialist.

Every chapter sends students to compete in contests like employability skills, art, entrepreneurship, chapter commercial, and public speaking. The RMHS students competing this year are Dylan Chavez, Marquez Zamora, Gavin Banks, Lucas Lehman, and Jaylenne Trevizo (chapter commercial). Before these students competed at CDC they competed at school to see who was going to State. But Kenndra knows that the contests are just a front for the students to learn and practice soft skills. "They're building new relationships, speaking to people, and shaking hands," said Kenndra. "It's very cool to see how these young men who were nervous before getting on the bus are now confidently talking to people they just met. It's not as scary as they thought it was. Sometimes in RM we have to provide opportunities for our kids to grow and expand on their experiences here at home," she added.

Kinross Nevada looks forward to a continued partnership with J4NG, Jobs For Nevada Graduates. The growth of the students directly benefits the professional world. Employability skills, soft skills, and confidence are the output of this great program.

J4NG Makes an Impact on Local Youth

Marquez Zamora—Junior Round Mountain High School

*Competed in Entrepreneurship at
J4NG Career Development Conference*

“J4NG has taught me a lot of employability skills throughout all the years I’ve been in the program. I’ve learned great leadership skills along with how to write a cover letter and a resume. I’m grateful to Kinross because they helped get us here and fund the program at our school.

Younger kids should 100% join this program. You’ll learn a lot of skills that can benefit your high school career and beyond.”

Dylan Chavez— Junior Round Mountain High School

Competed in Public Speaking at the Career Development Conference

“J4NG has taught me amazing employability skills, like how to write a resume, a cover letter, how to properly shake a hand and do an interview.

I’m grateful for the opportunity to be here. Honestly, it’s nice to get out of my comfort zone and interact with people. I’m grateful to meet new people and have new opportunities.

I would tell young people to get involved and join. You’ll have a lot of fun and learn a lot. Take it serious. It’s going to teach you life skills. Take a chance.”

Lucas Lehman—Sophomore Round Mountain High School

*Competed in Entrepreneurship at
J4NG Career Development Conference*

“J4NG has taught me better leadership skills and how to get into a job.

I’m so grateful to get to experience this conference and learn about what J4NG offers and
be involved.”

get to experience this confer-
about what J4NG offers and

I would tell younger kids to join J4NG because it’s a really great experience. It will be very useful.”

Gavin Banks— Junior Round Mountain High School

Competed in Entrepreneurship at the Career Development Conference

“I have learned how to go to an interview, write a resume and application. Also, people skills is also one of the biggest skills J4NG has taught me.

I’m so grateful for this experience. It is amazing. Coming out here with Sean and Khadija was awesome. Thank you, Kinross, for supporting us and encouraging us to pursue our interests.

For the younger kids: Do it! Start as early as you can. It’s really a great way to get out of your comfort zone and have experiences that we don’t get in Round Mountain.”

Mining Day at the Nevada Legislature

Kinross Nevada has been all over the state recently. Here, a group of Kinross Nevada spent the day at the Nevada Legislature in Carson City for their annual Mining Day on February 21, 2023. In Nevada, mining provides for schools, communities, and more. This day-long event allows members of the mining community to come together with legislators to learn about the Nevada Legislative process and meet their representatives. But more importantly, this event allows legislators to meet Nevada miners. Below, you can see some of the opportunities in which the Kinross Nevada team had the privilege of participating.

Idaho State University Recruitment Event

Kinross Nevada traveled to Idaho State University recently to visit with students and instructors in their diesel tech program. Finding skilled employees and sharing with them the benefits of working for Kinross at Round Mountain or Bald Mountain is an important investment. Attending career fairs and visiting vocational schools is one way to get our name out there. Above, JT Watford visits an ISU shop and talks with instructors. Above right, Rusty Odell RMGC Mine Superintendent, Darrell Boothman, Bald Mountain Mine Ops General Foreman, JT Watford, Bald Mountain Superintendent, and Joe Brown, Electrical Supervisor, get ready to present to ISU diesel technology students.

Below: Joe Brown and Neil Jensen visit with a diesel tech student. Below right: JT Watford, Bald Mountain Superintendent, far left, and Nate Hamilton, RMGC Maintenance General Foreman, far right, hired two ISU students as full-time employees, center, on the spot.

This trip was an overall success. The ISU students seems very engaged during the presentation and interviews. It's always cool to see young people showing a real interest in our industry. They are the future and we as a company are expanding our range of influence to new places, sharing the opportunity of how mining has positively impacted our lives and families' lives. ~Rusty Odell
